GERMANY PLOTTED WITH MEXICO AGAINST AMERICA

ZIMMERMAN SAYS GERMANS WOULD REGRET CONFLICT

Explains Proposal to Re-Open Negotiations After Break Occurred

RESPONSIBILITY PLACED UPON SWISS MINISTER

Declares America Should Form Economic Alliance
With the Teutons

Amsterdam, March 1, via London.—Foreign Secretary Zimmermann has made a statement before the reichstag in regard to the move made by Paul Ritter, Swiss minister to the United States to bring about a reopening of negotiations between the United States and Germany, Secretary Zimmermann said.

"The facts are as follows: On Feb. 8 through the Swiss federal council, we received a telegram from the Swiss minister at Washington to whom after the rupture our interests in America were entrusted. The telegram was as follows: 'In America the wish exists to avoid war should the German government show an inclination to negotiate about the blockade. The minister is ready to pursue the matter further.'

"Every speaker here has expressly emphasized that a breach with America was regrettable and it will undoubtedly be still more regrettable if it came to war between Germany and the United States, between whom there are ancient friendly relations and no political antagonism. Economically we are drawn to each other and should really be economic allies. Thus it is comprehensible that the imperial government desires to endeavor to avoid everything which might intensify the conflict. For these reasons we examined the suggestions which reached us from the Swiss minister."

Referring to the breach of relations with America, Deputy Schiffer, national liberal, declared that there was no doubt that Austria would back up Germany in her attitude toward the United States. "Austria's attitude need not worry us," said Deputy Schiffer. "We are fully convinced of her loyalty toward the alliance."

PREDICT ARMED NEUTRALITY BILL WILL PASS TODAY

Washington, March 1.—Spurred by the developments of the international situation, the house today took up the bill to clothe the president with authority to deal with the German submarine menace under an agreement to vote after three hours' debate.

The statement was made officially that the White House stands behind the bill as drawn in the senate. "First, last and all the time" and does not approve the house bill in its entirety because it does not provide the "other instrumentalities" which the president desires, and proposes to refuse war insurance to ships carrying munitions.

The portions of the administration wants may be inserted on the floor of the house or after the bill gets to the senate.

At the outset of the house debate Chairman Flood aroused intense enthusiasm on both sides. Every reference to America's willingness to protect the rights of citizens wherever they had a right to travel, was met with a volley of applause.

He cited that authority for the president to act as suggested in the bill had been granted to other executives in 1794, 1798, 1805, 1813, 1823 and 1856, and incidentally, attacked the pacifists protesting against the bill.

CLEVELAND SCHOOLS WILL ADOPT WYOMING MILITARY TRAINING

Cleveland, March 1.—The board of education has decided Cleveland high school boys are to receive military training as part of their course, after hearing two United States army officers explain the possibilities of the "Wyoming plan." One commissioned officer and five sergeants of the regular army, according to Captain E. Z. Steever, U. S. A., explained the system to the board, who will be sent here to drill the high school students. All high school boys over 14 years of age who are physically fit and have the consent of parents or guardians will take military training as part of their regular school work.

German Plot Story Officially Confirmed By President and State Dept.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 1.—Full official confirmation of Germany's intrigue to ally Mexico and Japan with her to make war on the United States, as revealed last night by the Associated Press, was given today at the White House, the state department and in the senate.

On the floor of the senate it was announced that Democratic senators had been authorized to state that the revelations, including the text of the instructions from German Foreign Minister Zimmermann to German Minister von Eckhardt at Mexico City were correct.

On motion of Senator Lodge the senate at once took up a proposal to ask the President to communicate the facts to congress officially.

After considerable discussion Senator Hardwick insisted upon an objection to immediate consideration of the Lodge resolution in order that there might be time for deliberation by the foreign relations committee.

Secretary Lansing authorized this statement:

"We do not believe that Japan has had any knowledge of this or that she would consider any proposition made by an enemy."

As to Mexico, the secretary said:

"We have confidence that Mexico would not be a party to any such agreement in view of the friendly relations existing between this government and the de facto government of Mexico."

The Japanese embassy made the following comment:

"With regard to the alleged German attempt to induce Japan and Mexico to make war upon the United States, made public in the press this morning, the Japanese embassy, while lacking information as to whether such invitation ever reached Tokyo, desires to state most emphatically that any invitation of this sort would under no circumstances be entertained by the Japanese government, which is in entire accord and close relations with the other powers, on account of formal agreements and our common cause, and, more over, our good friendship with the United States, which is every day growing in sincerity and cordiality."

Secretary Lansing took great care it will be noted, to exonerate both Japan and Mexico, and said this government had no knowledge that the proposal had been conveyed through Mexico to Japan.

In view of the fact that the plan was not to be presented until "it is certain that there will be an outbreak of war with the United States" it was not certain, Secretary Lansing said, that the matter had been officially presented to General Carranza at all.

It is known definitely, officials said, that Zimmermann's instructions reached Count von Bernstorff here in Washington, that he forwarded them to Carranza.

DRY LEADERS ARE JUBILANT OVER PASSAGE OF BILL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 1.—Prohibition leaders were jubilant today over the passage by the house last night of the bill to make the national capital dry and the action of the conference on the postoffice appropriation in agreeing on a report which includes the Reed amendment forbidding all importation of liquor into prohibition states even for personal use.

The district prohibition bill already had passed the senate and now goes to President Wilson for his approval. The action of the conference on the postal bill with its Reed "bone dry" amendment came unexpectedly after hope of an agreement had been abandoned.

The conference report was ready today to be laid before the house and senate and it is believed that it will be accepted. The president is expected to sign both it and the district dry bill.

The district bill met with stubborn opposition but finally passed the house and senate and it is believed that it will be accepted. The president is expected to sign both it and the district dry bill.

The district bill met with stubborn opposition but finally passed the house by the overwhelming vote of 273 to 137.

WERTS CHANGES PLEA TO GUILTY OF LESSER CRIME

Prosecution Accepts Plea As Relatives Were Only
Witnesses

SENTENCE DEFERRED
UNTIL NEXT MONDAY

Third Special Venire Was In Court Ready to Complete Jury Panel

The James "Bud" Werts murder trial was brought to an abrupt conclusion shortly after court convened this morning at 10 o'clock, when the state agreed to a withdrawal of the defendant's former plea of not guilty of the murder of his brother-in-law, George Stevens, on March 11, 1916, and accepted his plea of guilty to manslaughter.

At the convening of court today 38 members of the third special venire reported for service. There were eleven tentative jurors in the box and the defense had exercised eight peremptory challenges out of sixteen. It was apparent that a jury possibly might be secured late this afternoon or at least sometime tomorrow.

After Bailiff Erasmus Emswiler had called the court to order Prosecutor Charles L. Flory addressed the court, stating that both himself and his assistant, Attorney Carl Norpell had carefully gone through all the evidence brought out in the preliminary hearings before the justice of the peace and the coroner's inquest, the evidence which had been submitted to the grand jury and had interviewed witnesses who were to have been summoned for the trial and after taking up various phases of the case and examining a number of supreme court decisions, they had reached the conclusion after mature deliberation that the most a jury could find would be a verdict of manslaughter.

Prosecutor Flory further stated to the court that so far as he was concerned, being prosecutor of the county, he felt that under the circumstances it was his duty to the community to accept the plea of self-defense, and that as Werts, the defendant, was under 21 years of age, he would have to be taken care of by the court as the statutes provide.

Assistant Prosecutor Norpell next addressed the court, mostly along the same lines as the prosecutor, stating in addition that the only eye witnesses to the killing of Stevens were members of the Werts family and that the defendant claimed that it was done in self defense. He was confident that the prosecution could only expect a manslaughter verdict, and that in view of the great expense which would be saved the county he concurred in the acceptance of the change of plea on the part of the defense.

MEXICAN OFFICIALS DECLINE TO DISCUSS PROPOSED ALLIANCE

Mexico City, March 1.—Most of the Mexican officials have declined today to discuss the effort of Germany to involve Mexico in a war with the United States except to say that they thought such efforts were vain and that Mexico would be neutral.

SOCIALISTS SAY GERMAN BRANCH BROKE PLEDGES

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, March 1.—The British socialists have declined an invitation from the French socialist party to send delegates to a congress of socialists of the allied countries which it is proposed to hold on March 15. The British reply to the invitation says:

"We are strongly of the opinion that the congress should not be held. The year 1917 is the most critical period of the war. A great majority of socialists are fighting at the front to repel the German invasion and are unable either to attend as delegates or appoint others to be present in their place. Of the socialists still at home a small but active minority consist of those who are demanding peace at any price. Even an overwhelming vote of the congress could not entirely outweigh the effect of a fierce internal debate raised by a few advocates of the non-residents and socialists would suffer in the opinion of the world of workers, when come our converts."

"We appeal to socialists throughout the allied countries not to attend a congress which can only heighten the energy of real socialism, strengthen the power of chauvinism in Germany and greatly damage our cause."

The communication then refers to the socialists of Germany, regarding whom it says:

"The backbone of the German social democracy is partly made up of deserters, deserters made in Paris and Brussels vigorously supported the junker and capitalist army of aggressive militarism, destroyed at a blow all the mutual international confidence between the socialists of all nations, which the British socialists have spent the greater part of their lives endeavoring to build up."

SURRENDER OF COSART REVEALS STRANGE STORY

Spent Money Freely While

SURRENDERS TO U. S.

Under Sentence For Using
Mails In Get-Rich-Quick
Scheme In South

The story of the last few years of the life of M. W. Cosart, alias W. G. Russell, would read like the most interesting fiction, and in many respects is much "stranger" and more thrilling, because it is true. This article however, is not intended as the first installment of a novel, but a news story and is printed because part of the Russell's activities touched Newark, and some Newark people.

Some weeks ago Russell registered at the Arcade Hotel and soon attracted attention by his breezy manner and liberality in spending money. He was lavish in treating, generous in tips for any small service and his supply of coin of the realm seemed inexhaustible.

He represented himself as connected with western oil interests and sold some stock in Newark it is understood. He stayed in the city for some days and then left, but as far as known all of his transactions financially were straight, and the only interest any one in this city could have in his history would be general. The adventures of J. R. Wallingford in some ways look like the operations of a "piker" compared to Russell's.

Every minute he was in Newark the sleuths of the United States Secret Service were searching for him and were in Newark upon several occasions.

Some years ago Cosart was tried at Aberdeen, Mississippi, and convicted of using the mails to defraud in the promotion of some "get rich quick" scheme. He was sentenced to five years in the Federal penitentiary, and gave an appeal bond for $25,000 and took the case to a high court. When the case was affirmed it was up to Cosart either to go to the penitentiary or disappear and forget the bond. He did the latter and then began his protechnique financial career that seems almost incredible.

After leaving Mississippi, he assumed the name of Russell and under this pseudonym carried on his big transactions.

All efforts of the U. S. department of justice failed to locate Cosart until early this year, when they heard he was living in Blackwell, Oklahoma. The sleuths of the government soon were in Blackwell, where they satisfied themselves that "Russell" was the man they wanted. He had organized here the National

PRESIDENT DECLARES ZIMMERMAN NOTE TO BE "SUBSTANTIALLY CORRECT"

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 1.—The communication of Germany to Mexico and Japan, proposing an alliance against the United States, as published today, was brought up in the senate when it convened, by Senator Lodge, who introduced a resolution proposing that the president inform the senate if the note signed "Zimmerman" is authentic.

Senator Swanson informed Senator Lodge that the Democratic senators had been authorized by the president to state that the account of the Zimmerman note as revealed by the Associated Press was substantially correct.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 1.—Revelation of how Germany, expecting war with the United States as the result of her submarine campaign of ruthlessness, plotted to unite Mexico and Japan with her for an attack on the United States, has stirred the capital to its depths.

Members of Congress, many of whom have been hesitating before President Wilson's request for full authority to deal with Germany in the present situation, went to the capitol today reading documentary evidence of the intrigue which proposed to separate Japan from her allies, and add the United States to the list of nations which Germany hopes to see conquered in her dream of world domination.

How Germany, confident that unrestricted submarine warfare is the instrument by which she will bring England to her knees, proposed a triple blow, is revealed in a set of instructions from German Foreign Minister Zimmermann to German Minister von Eckhardt in Mexico City, which was transmitted through Count von Bernstorff, late German ambassador here.

At one sweep, Germany proposed to weaken the entente alliance by the defection of Japan; strike a crushing blow at England's naval power by cutting off the vital supply of Mexican fuel oil; and thoroughly engage the attention of the United States by an invasion in which Japan was to be invited to join, and for which Mexico, should be rewarded by reconquering her "lost provinces"—Texas, New Mexico and Arizona.

GERMAN PEOPLE ARE RECONCILED TO ANY STEP U. S. MAY TAKE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Berlin, Wednesday, Feb. 28, via London, March 1.—All outward signs indicate that the German nation is reconciled completely to any eventually growing out of the loss of American lives through the sinking of the steamship Laconia. There has just been received here a brief dispatch from Washington to the effect that the United States government regards the torpedoing of the liner as an overt act. There are no indications, however, of any departure from Germany's resolve to carry on submarine warfare unretarded.

The remarks of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg on this subject, in his address to the reichstag yesterday, have met with general support. The submarine campaign is inspiring great enthusiasm, and is regarded as the agency which is capable of forcing the war to a conclusion in Germany's favor.

The text of this document is as follows:

CONGRESS DROPS DIFFERENCES TO SUPPORT WILSON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 1.—Shocked and amazed by the revelation of Germany's attempt to unite Japan and Mexico to war upon the United States, congress today forgot its differences of opinion and began swinging into line behind the president.

Senate Republicans abandoned their general filibuster and gave Democratic leaders assurance of their support to the president in a national emergency.

In the house, without a roll call, and under special provision for its immediate consideration, Representative Flood's bill to clothe the president with the authority to deal with the German submarine menace by arming ships, was taken up under an agreement for a vote after three hours of debate.

President Wilson, however, will insist on being empowered to use "other instrumentalities" as proposed in the bill pending in the senate.

The magnitude and astounding character of Germany's proposal completely overshadowed all other considerations in the government today.

Union Oil & Gas Company and was field manager. This company was sound financially and drilled in the richest fields in that section.

In the meantime however, Cosart had moved to Wellington, Kansas, going there last fall.

The Wellington Daily News of January 26, last, tells of his career in that place as follows:

"W. G. Russell came to Wellington about four months ago and stopped for awhile at the Antlers. Later he purchased the home of Mrs. F. E. Carr paying a thousand dollars and moved in. He had a chummy roadster, geared to high speed and made a considerable splash dashing here and there, throwing out generous tips and plainly seeking to be well advertised as a married man and a spender.

"Also he was a religious four-flusher and soon presented to the Baptist church about the most beautiful letter ever presented to that organization. It was signed by the clerk of the Baptist church of Euflala, Florida, who wrote that Brother Russell had been the chief spiritual and financial support of the church.

"Being received into the local church he was regular in attendance, and the Sunday school always felt the thrill of a fire spot he dropped into the treasury every Sunday. His prayers were beautiful and his knowledge of the Bible quite unusual. A letter that came later said that no such person as Russell ever was known in Euflala.

"Not long ago a number of local business men joined with Russell in the organization of a company to try to make some money out of the oil business. He had good connections in that business, but his associates were not quite sure of him. Opening day's meetings with prayer did not line up with knocking men down on the streets and some of the other things which he did, and they determined they would take no chances. The company did not lose a cent by him.

"Early this month Russell was inclined to quarrel about a small matter with a garage man, who advised him to 'lay off as the government is after you.' Whether or not this frightened him, on January 6 he prepared to go away. That night he was gone and within 36 hours an official from the department of justice was here to get him. It is understood he is now in Canada.

The News mentions the fact that 'J. Howard Jones, an attorney of Newark, Ohio, representing Russell was here the other day looking after some of his business.'

Mr. Jones was seen by an Advocate reporter this morning, and shown the Kansas paper's article and asked concerning Russell.

"I am Russell's personal attorney and have been for some time. All I have to say is that my client surrendered himself to the U. S. authorities in Canada last Monday and was brought back. He was not 'captured,' but his surrender was entirely voluntary.

warded them to Mexico City and that they reached the German minister there. At this point the trail of official certainty is lost to view.

Secretary Lansing flatly refused to give any indication of how the information came into possession of the United States government, on the ground that it would endanger the lives of those concerned. For obvious reasons, which he would not amplify, he refused to discuss the source in any way.

The effect of the situation on congress was almost instantaneous. CORONER PROBES FATAL AUTO CRASH AT LIMA

(Associated Press Telegram)

Lima, O., March 1.—Coroner May has started an investigation of last night's accident in which five persons were killed and twelve others injured, two probably fatally.

Twenty-two employees of the Ohio Steel company were in a motor bus, returning home from work, when a Cincinnati Hamilton and Dayton railroad freight train struck it, wrecking the car.

The driver of the bus, Peter Dailley, who escaped unhurt, is under arrest, as are also members of the railroad train crew.

Of the injured all of whom are in a hospital, Louis Schupp and Oscar M. Lease are not expected to live.

Schupp's neck was broken and Lease sustained a skull fracture. Both his lungs were pierced.

The dead are:

intention to endeavor to keep neutral the United States of America.

"If this attempt is not successful, we propose an alliance on the following basis with Mexico: That we shall make war together and together make peace. We shall give general financial support and it is understood that Mexico is to reconquer the lost territory in New Mexico, Texas and Arizona. The details are left to you for settlement.

"You are instructed to inform the President of Mexico of the above in the greatest confidence as soon as it is certain that there will be an outbreak of war with the United States and suggest that the president of Mexico, on his own initiative, should communicate with Japan, suggesting adherence at once to this plan; at the same time, offer to mediate between Germany and Japan.

"Please call to the attention of the president of Mexico that the employment of ruthless submarine warfare now promises to compel England to make peace in a few months.

(Signed) Zimmermann.

To American officials, the startling disclosure throws new light on Germany's real attitude toward the United States. It shows that while the administration has been going to utmost lengths to avoid an armed clash with Germany, even to the extent of repeatedly enduring flagrant violations of American neutrality on the sea and breaches of neutrality on American soil, Germany with the diplomacy so suddenly revealed by the outbreak of the European war has been numbering the United States among her enemies and making provision to meet such a situation.

The documentary proof of Germany's plot to abduct Japan and Mexico against the United States, has been in the hands of the United States government, while German statesmen have been pleading that President Wilson's action in breaking off diplomatic relations was brusque and harsh and that they were informed of no "authentic reasons" for his action. While the German chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg was making his celebrated speech in the reichstag in which he deplored the break and protested that Germany had promoted and cherished the friendship of the United States as Bismarck put it—"an heirloom from Frederick the Great"—the documentary evidence in the hands of officials here showed that Germany was plotting an attack on the United States by a triple alliance.

American officials wonder, how in the light of these disclosures, German officials will reconcile their plea that the United States put an interpretation on the new submarine orders "not intended by Germany" with the organized disabling of German merchant ships in American ports, at pre-arranged signal from the German embassy here—some of them even before the break was an accomplished fact.

American officials are equally interested in knowing what reception the startling disclosures will meet in Germany and what will be the effect on the German people if they are permitted to know about them.

The evidences at hand are that if Mexico, as Germany suggested, communicated to Japan the proposal for an attack on the United States, it met with a reception in Tokyo which was quite contrary to what Berlin had expected. It is thought there that Germany's announcement that she intended to withdraw from the Pacific, as part of the making of peace, was carefully planned long ago to attract Japan to Germany's schemes with the prospect not only of occupying the German possessions in the Pacific adding to her domination of the great ocean, but of settling the long standing friction with the United States. Observers here believe that the break down of the scheme so far as Japan was concerned was signaled when the Mexican government suddenly reversed its attitude and announced that it had no intention of cutting off the British supply of naval fuel oil, as had plainly been indicated in General Carranza's proposal to export peace in Europe by cutting off exports of food and munitions from neutrals.

Aside from the plan to alienate Japan from the entente and turn that country against the United States, the plot to embroil Mexico in a war against the United States which was to have general financial support from Germany, commands chief attention because it is regarded as proof of long smoldering suspicions of German activities to stir up trouble elsewhere on the western hemisphere, where the United States, by the Monroe doctrine is morally obliged to maintain order.

Reports of German submarine bases in the Gulf of Mexico hints of possible German influence behind the uprising in Cuba; renewed assertions that German influence were playing upon all revolutionary factions in Mexico with the sole purpose of subverting the United States; reports of recruitment being stirred up against the United States in Colombia; because of the partition of Panama; the recent purchase by the United States of the Danish West Indies; for the openly announced reason that the United States could not afford to have them fall into the hands of a hostile power, all these things, in the opinion of officials here, taken on a decidedly definite form with the disclosures made in Germany's instructions to her minister in Mexico.

The investigations of the American military intelligence officers and the secret service along the border have disclosed many German activities there, which now in the light of these revelations can be assigned to their proper place in the sequence of events.

At Columbus, N. M., it is charged that German influences were responsible for the Villa raid, with the object of forcing intervention by the United States which was expected to draw the attention of the American military forces and munitions and consequently cut down the munitions exports of the allies.

The army intelligence officers are in possession of information which seems to imply possible connection of Theodore Koch, or Koch, German vice-consul at Parral, Mexico, with the attack by Mexican troops on the American cavalry under Major Tompkins while in pursuit of the Villa bandits. Although American officers say they did not find Koch at Parral when they were there, they have received reports that he urged the Mexicans to attack the American troops in order to prevent the capture of Villa, fearing it would be followed by revelations of the alleged German influence behind the raid. One high army officer said: "I am positive that Koch had something if not a great deal to do with the trouble at Parral."

From other sources information has come to the government of other German activities and influences in Mexico. Mr. Krum-Heller, a German active in Mexico many years, is reported to be very close to General Carranza, and active in conducting pro-German propaganda in Mexico. Other information in the hands of Government intelligence officers is that Maximilian Klaus, a German in charge of Carranza's ordinance factories which have been established near Mexico City. None of these facts in itself is regarded as having a direct relation to the proposal of Germany to Mexico and Japan, but it is realized they are collateral evidences of Germany's general plans.

It is probable that a full account of German intrigues in this country, as well as in Central and South America of which this government has knowledge, may never become publicly known, but it is possible that they may, according to the turn of events. It is known positively, however, that evidences of the activities of Count Von Bernstorff, sufficient to force his departure from the country at any time, were in the hands of the government even before it knew of the attempted intrigue with Mexico and Japan.

Your Choice of 1500 Brand New Spring Style Hats For Men and Young Men

Every Hat Worth Not Less Than $2.00

A few days ago we bought from one of the leading hat manufacturers of this country 1500 hats and his entire line of sample hats as we took all he had and he did not need his samples longer.

Each and every one of these hats are worth at the very lowest estimate $2.00. But how did we buy them so we could sell these stylish new spring style hats for such a small price?

Here Is The Reason For The Low Price

Most every hat dealer has his hats made with his name in them which is an advertisement for him. This hat maker had made up for various hat dealers in different cities these 1500 hats for dealers whose credit went bad.

They did not want to take the chance of their account. They would much rather sell them for cash at a very low price.

We took their 1500 hats.

A WORD ABOUT THESE HATS

They are all soft hats. Every one is this season's leading style—made for spring 1917, mind you. There is a big variety of nobby styles. They are in blacks and almost every shade you can think of, the sizes are for men and young men as they range from 6 5-8 up to 7 1-2.

Now we do not expect to sell all these hats the first day, but you know that the best always goes first, so we can only advise you to make your selection as early as possible as they will not last long at the price of only

DEMANDS RELEASE OF CONSULS HELD BY GERMAN ORDER

(Associated Press Telegram)

Washington, March 1.—The state department last night sent to the Berlin government a request for immediate release for four American consuls, held there pending receipt of word that German consuls in the United States have been permitted to go to other posts in South and Central America.

As a result of the increasing gravity of the German situation, the administration is known to be giving extraordinary attention to preparedness measures, particularly to the question of universal military training, even though passage of a bill providing this seems unlikely at the present session.

While the policy of armed neutrality announced in the president's last address to congress is to be continued, if possible, the administration is taking into account the possibility of further aggressions necessitating the most thorough preparedness.

Safe conduct on the high seas, in addition to freedom to leave the United States by any port they choose, was demanded for the German consuls in this country by the Berlin government, immediately after the break in relations. While it was not explicitly stated that permission for the four American consular officers, who remained in Germany after Ambassador Gerard's withdrawal, to proceed to new posts in Turkey was dependent upon this concession of safe conduct by the United States government, it was made plainly apparent to the state department that there was some connection between the cases.

They are not technically "detained" but the obstacle thrown in their way are certain military rules governing the movements of civilians across the borders which invariably have been waived as a matter of international comity in similar cases.

State department officials were amazed at the German demand for safe conduct for their consuls to new posts in Latin America. It had arranged without demur for the safe conduct to Germany of the large body of German consuls in the United States who accompanied Count Von Bernstorff. But never before had the department been confronted with a demand for safe conduct beyond the borders of the United States for consular officers of the United States.

Therefore Secretary Lansing without hesitation declared that it was none of the business of the United States government to protect these German consuls beyond the jurisdiction of the United States.

The facts developed in connection with the German intrigue now make it clear that Secretary Lansing had an additional reason for not desiring to facilitate the transfer of German consuls into Latin America, based on his knowledge that such officials were prospective, active and dangerous agents of the German government in the plan to array the governments of Latin America against the United States in event of war between this country and Germany.

TURKS RETREATING TOWARD BAGDAD

Once again the British forces are in possession of Kut-el-Amara on the Tigris and the Turks are retreating toward Bagdada. This time the British believe they will be able to hold the Mesopotamian city—a feat they were unable to accomplish a year ago—and their objective now is Bagdada, one hundred miles away.

WERTS CHANGES PLEA TO GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

defendant next addressed the court, stating that his client admitted that he did kill George Stevens, but at the same time he claimed that he did so in self defense, to save himself from a violent assault, and that his counsel believed that he was telling the truth. Mr. Smythe further said that in view of the difficulties experienced in the selection of a jury, defendant's counsel was convinced that it would be better to agree to the change of plea, inasmuch as 33 gentlemen had been examined as to their qualifications to serve as jurors on the case, and all but 20 had been excused on the ground that they had formed an opinion that defendant was guilty of the crime with which he was charged. Attorney Smythe said that personally he regretted to see his client take that stand but as his counsel he withdrew the former plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to the crime of manslaughter.

Judge Fulton then requested Werts to stand up and said to him: "You have heard these statements on the part of counsel, have you not?" and the defendant replied, "Yes, sir."

Just then Attorney Russell for the defense requested the court to defer the passing of sentence for the present and after he had given his reasons, the prosecution agreed to same, and Judge Fulton complied with the request and announced that Werts would be sentenced Monday morning.

Would you say a string tied around an absent-minded man's finger was a sort of forget-me-knot?

DODGING JURY DUTY.

There is one obligation of American citizenship which many men otherwise exemplary in the discharge of civic duties will shirk seemingly without any compunction of conscience, and that is jury service.

This phase of dereliction was again forcibly in evidence during the attempt to impanel a jury for the trial of James Werts for murder, which began Monday and consumed several days. Every technicality known to the law was invoked by jury prospects, to have themselves excused.

By far the greatest majority disqualified themselves by stating they opposed capital punishment. It would be unjust to most of these men to question the honesty of their convictions, but in many cases it seemed this was used rather as an easy method of shifting the responsibility upon other shoulders, than as the result of any settled, intelligent, mental attitude toward the question.

Those thus disqualified were not asked if they voted for the constitutional amendment, submitted several years ago, to abolish capital crimes in Ohio. If the same proportion of the voters in Ohio, (of which the prospective jurors are a fair sample) had voted for the amendment, that in Licking county now appear to oppose electrocution, such punishment would not be in force now.

Jury duty is as much incumbent upon an elector as the exercise of his franchise or the payment of his taxes. It may be unpleasant but to many so is paying. Both must be done, however, and neither should be shirked deliberately.

REDUCING MILK COSTS.

An item to the effect that New York's Commissioner of Foods and Markets proposes to sell milk at 8 cents instead of 11 cents at sold elsewhere, has more than local interest. His scheme is to dispose of it through groceries and butcher's shops. Apparently the public would come and carry their milk home.

The delivery of milk is one of the worst botches in our distribution system. Here is one of the great necessities of life used by every family. Yet there will be a dozen milk carts running through a street, all duplicating service, labor, equipment, and adding probably 25 per cent to the cost.

A combination scheme for eliminating this duplication might or might not work. The monopoly might charge the public so high a profit that there might be no gain. If the city undertook the distribution, the work would not probably be efficiently done, politics would drive the milk wagon, and there might be no economy.

But it looks as if there might be a saving were milk to be distributed more through stores. Of course there will always be many people who consider their time more valuable than their money. Yet there are a great many hard pressed families who would be glad to save a few cents a day by carrying home their own supplies from the nearest store.

In some of the more primitive summer resorts, this is an every day sight. These resorts are not usually handy to farms, heavy transportation charges have to be paid, and there is a general tendency to soak the summer visitors. But with people coming to the corner grocery store and carrying home their own bottles, they probably get their supplies.

WHEN WE BROKE WITH ITALY.

(Indianapolis Star.)

Severance of diplomatic relations does not necessarily mean war, as does to be the prevailing opinion in this country. The enormous statement has been made many times, since we handed passports to Count von Bernstorff, that such action invariably has terminated in armed conflict.

Our diplomatic relations with Italy were severed during President Harrison's term, yet no war resulted. Members of the Mafia, an Italian secret society, had perpetrated a series of murders in New Orleans.

The activity of Chief of Police David C. Kennedy drew upon him the enmity of the conspirators and he was murdered.

The jury acquitted six of the nine who had been arrested in connection with the conspiracy and disassembled to the other three. A mob then stormed the jail and lynched those who had been acquitted along with some others suspected.

Italy demanded reparation and the punishment of those guilty of being implicated in the hangings. Our government expressed regret but explained that the crime in which the crimes were committed was not under the jurisdiction of Washington could not guarantee to punish those accused of taking part in the lynching.

That did not suit Italy. Baron Fava, the Italian minister, was recalled and diplomatic relations between this country and Italy were severed. After the first heat of resentment had passed, negotiations were resumed, and we settled by the payment of $25,000 indemnity to the families of the victims and expressing our regret to the Italian government.

WHERE SYMPATHY IS DUE.
(Pittsburgh Gazette Times.)
Inhumanly callous must be the heart that does not beat warmly in sympathy with Mrs. William Thaw in her hour of disillusionment and submission to the cold truth. For almost 11 years beginning on that night in June, 1902, when Stanford White was shot to death from the roof of Madison Square Garden in New York by her son, Harry Kendall Thaw, she has stood forth a pathetic example of maternal devotion dominating as sordid a drama as ever engaged the attention of the American people. Her undeviating faith in face of demonstrated facts, her unquestionable sincerity, the obvious purity of her motives, made of her a heroic figure in the public mind, as shown as the latter was by the blindness of her mother love.

At last the scales have dropped from her eyes. Could words be more pathetic than hers? "I am unable to resist the facts that demonstrate my son's insanity." * * * Now I know, as I never knew before, that my son is an irresponsible man whom the law must guard. How shocking the realization, how hard to make the admission, none may know, that the truth established in the minds of all others a decade ago has just flashed upon her detractors not at all from the claim that the noble woman has upon the sympathy of her neighbors. Better it were that she had been permitted to understand in 1906. She and many others would have been spared much of sorrow and distress; the administration of the law would have suffered less of popular disrespect; reputations now blasted might be flowing; less might be heard in contemptuous denunciation of the evil power of overmuch wealth. But we should have been denied the inspiration of her noble example of maternal devotion, the one bright feature of the "Thaw case" which it now seems is to be forever closed.

ARMED NEUTRALITY.

(Philadelphia Record.)
It is the unquestionable duty of Congress to assume its share of responsibility in the present critical situation, but the President will not shirk responsibility, even if a Congress which has but a few more days of existence should. "I already possess that authority," he tells Congress, "without special warrant of law, by the plain implication of my constitutional duties and powers, but I prefer, in the present circumstances, not to act upon general implication." Yet his predecessors have, and we have not the slightest doubt that if Congress should be unfaithful to its obligations to the nation, the President will perform his duty and assume the undivided responsibility.

And when he shall do, he will have the country with him as Mr. Lincoln did, and as General Jackson did. This country would be untrue to itself and recreant to its obligations as a member of the family of nations if it should submit supinely to the constant violations of its commercial rights, which are also violations of the law of nations and the law of humanity.

And the last fact justifies any action which it may be necessary to take. If only commercial considerations were involved, we might wait, as we did in the case of the Alabama, for a commercial settlement under happier conditions. But human life and the restraints which civilization has imposed upon beligerents cannot be made subjects of a civil suit for damages. Our Government has obligations to its citizens, and it has obligations to the world, which forbid it to acquiesce in crime, unquestionable, bold and constantly repeated.

The President makes it clear that in demanding the protection of our commercial rights he is not thinking merely, or primarily, of pecuniary considerations. "I am thinking of those rights of humanity without which there is no civilization." He calls upon Congress to join him in defending those rights, "whose foundation is that righteous passion for justice upon which all law, all structure of family, of State and of mankind must rest, as upon the ultimate base of our existence and our liberty."

"I cannot imagine any man with American principles at his heart," says the President in conclusion, "hesitating to defend these things."

Nor can we. We will not believe that any American Congress, especially a Democratic Congress, will withhold from the President the specific authority to ask to arm merchant ships, and to take any other steps that may be necessary to defend what are at the same time our rights, and the rights of civilization. But if Congress should prove craven, we entertain no doubt of the President's action and of the whole-souled support that will be given him from one end of the country to the other.

Spirit of the Press

President Is Right.
The President on Monday last appeared before Congress to ask the authority, which on February 3rd he said he would ask. His speech was temperate, and if it is to be criticized at all, it should be because he is somewhat indefinite in his statement as to how far he will go. So far as he has gone he is right. We hope that Congress will without hesitation grant to the President whatever authority he needs to protect American life and property.

An Overt Act or What?
The sinking of the Lusitania is a crime of precisely similar type to the destruction of the Lusitania. Only the extent of the tragedy is less or different. The Lusitania, like the Lusitania, was an English ship. She was torpedoed and sunk without warning. She was struck with two torpedoes to hasten her sinking. No effort was made by the miscreants in the German submarine to give the people on board her a chance for their lives or to extend aid to them after the catastrophe.

Riddles In School.
In a Western United States rural school, recently, the teacher, to relieve the tedium, knocked for silence and requested her pupils to propose and answer riddles. One of the rash scholars promptly asked: "Why is this school room like a motor car?" and in due time followed with the answer, "Because everything depends on the crank in front." The interesting thing about this incident is that there are parts of the Western United States in which school children are not yet familiar with the self-starter.

The Real Danger.
The real danger to the canal does not lie in the weakness of its armament. The defensive guns are probably of longer range than would be the equipment of any fleet which might attack the forts. The experience of Gallipoli would indicate that so far as a sea enemy is concerned Panama is safe. But it is said the food supply carried is always too small. In the possibility of war the garrison at the isthmus would be quickly starved into submission by a land attack if the United States Navy suffered a disaster. Accumulating quantities of food needed for possible crises, is one form of preparedness concerning which there should be no debate.—Chicago Herald.

The Cry of the Hungry.
Food riots by New York women have a peculiar and pathetic feature. They are not result of unemployment. They do not spring out of the abject poverty of enforced idleness and loss of earning capacity. Bread winners are at work, but their work can no longer win bread for their families under price values putting food beyond the reach of many of the industrious. The darkest tragedy of it all is that honest toil, steadily at work, can no longer earn the cost of a family living. The poverty of transitory idleness can be better borne under hope of better things. But when the wage which has been enough to maintain life dwindles into insignificance by contrast with the unceasing rise in food prices, a greater despair must fall upon the workers and those dependent on them.—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

From Bad to Worse in Cuba.
So far as can be judged from the meagre and sometimes conflicting information which the current dispatches communicate, the situation in Cuba does not improve. Indeed, it seems to be growing worse rather than better. It has been predicted that if ever we went into the island again we should never leave it. We ought never to have left it in the first place, and if the Cubans prove themselves incapable of self-government, as they are certainly doing, sooner or later we shall have to govern them. We cannot put up with the present kind of thing indefinitely.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

SEVERE RHEUMATIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Rheumatism depends on an acid which flows in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive processes, and remains there because the liver, kidneys and skin are too torpid to carry it off.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and through the blood on the liver, kidneys and skin, which it stimulates, and at the same time it improves the digestion.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and entirely pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

You brush your teeth regularly—why, then, have you tooth troubles?

After brushing them tonight, feel along the hidden rear surfaces of your teeth. Don't be surprised to find tartar deposits and shreds of food still lurking in the crevices.

The tooth paste That really cleans

An Army of Internal Bathers

Over half a million bright, keen, up-to-date Americans have found that Internal Bathing is more essential to their well-being than External Baths.

Have found that taken occasionally at night they feel like different people the next morning, whereas if they bathe, they feel like the same old, but having by Nature's own cleanser, antiseptic warm water, removed all the noxious waste from the lower intestine, they awake thoroughly refreshed by normal sleep with all their functions acting in healthy accord, bright, happy, clear-headed and confident, eager and capable for the duties of the day.

Mrs. Clara Spears, of West Union, Ohio, writes: "I received my Cascade and feel it my duty to write and tell you how delighted I am with it. I have received most satisfactory results; in fact, I have only had one headache since I began using it and it only lasted one day, whereas I always suffered from three to four. I sleep so good, I truly believe I have found relief from one of my worst troubles. I wish I had gotten it years ago."

Why not learn more about this rapidly growing and natural practice? The "J. R. L. Cascade," the original and best appliance for this purpose, manufactured by Charles A. Tyrell, M. D., is now being shown and explained by The Hudson Agency, Pharmacy, 12 E. Williams, Proprietor, 222 Madison Avenue, Corner Oak Street, Newark, Ohio.

There also may be obtained free on request "Why Man of Today is Only 20 Per Cent Efficient," a most interesting booklet on the subject.

Wednesday evening Edgar Albright was pleasantly surprised at his home in Maple avenue, by a number of friends, the occasion being the anniversary of his birth. The guests were entertained by the singing of a quartet, composed of Fritz Drake, Myron Cline, Edward Mapes and Albert Black. A comedy sketch by Messrs. Drake, Cline and Mapes, entitled "The Kiss on the Stool," furnished much amusement.

Mr. Albright received many beautiful and useful gifts, among them being a handsome gold ring, engraved with the M. W. A. emblem, presented by Mr. Cline on behalf of the Yuka Ka Soota, to which Mr. Albright responded with a word of thanks.

Refreshments were served to the following: by Mrs. Frank Helmke and Mrs. J. W. Albright; Misses Edith Mason, Grace Hoodlet, Mabel Oatman, Beulah Murray, Katherine Hoodlet, Gady Beal, Helen McCullough, Jessie Simpson; Messrs. Albert Black, Myron Cline, William Albright, Donald Helmke, Fritz Drake, Edward Mapes, Gerald Helmke and Edgar Albright.

The members of the Wednesday Luncheon club were entertained at the Mountbaldwin Country club on the club day with Mrs. Edward Kibler, Jr. and Mrs. Malcolm Baker as hostesses. The only guest of the club was Mrs. Robbins Hunter.

Mrs. Henry Pfeffer entertained the members of the Wednesday Afternoon Sewing club yesterday at her home in Hudson avenue. The hours were delightfully spent and luncheon of attractive appointments was served.

Fleming-Lane.
The marriage of Miss Mattie Lane of West Virginia and Mr. William Ernest Fleming took place at the parsonage of the East Main Street U. B. church on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock with Rev. A. B. Cox officiating. They were accompanied by the bride's sister, Mrs. Vera Vogel and Mrs. John Homer. The bridegroom is an employee of the Heisey company and they will reside in McKinley avenue.

On Thursday evening, Homer R. Hiles was pleasantly surprised at his home in James street, it being his twenty-second birthday. Mr. Hiles was presented with a large birthday cake, made by Mrs. Radcliff. The evening was devoted to games and music. Lunch was served a number of guests.

The A. F. F. W. meets as usual at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday.

The Tuesday Bridge Club spent their time in sewing last week for wounded soldiers, instead of playing bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schroeder delightfully entertained members of the Alternate Club on Tuesday evening at their Hudson avenue home. Dinner was served at seven o'clock the appointments being in pink and white with a flower centerpiece of pink and white tulips. Following dinner the awards for the card game were made to Mrs. Carl Dayton and Mr. Charles Holl. The only guests of the club were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holl of Columbus.

THIS MAN LEARNS TO READ WITH TONGUE
Chicago.—The loss of his sight and both arms in a mine explosion in 1900 failed to cause despair to William McPherson of Highland Park, Ill. He has since learned to read with his tongue by means of raised letters on porcelain slabs. Now he has been fitted with artificial arms and can feed himself, for the first time in eleven years.

Coffee and Pianos.
There is a close relation between the coffee industry and the piano business in Guatemala. Whenever there is a good year for coffee in the republic there is a better demand for pianos.

The Courts

Alimony Petition.
Thomas M. Norrie has filed an amended petition for alimony in the probate court, against Elizabeth Norris, et al. They were married Jan. 28, 1868, and plaintiff alleges that defendant is morose and ill-tempered, and that in October, 1916, she left their home and declared it her intention never to return. Plaintiff states that he is 66 years of age and in poor health. He says the property is in defendant's name and he believes she intends disposing of same. He asks for alimony and that defendant be enjoined from disposing of the property.

Denied Petition.
The county commissioners have denied the prayer of the petition of C. V. Jeffries, asking for a change of road in Madison township, on the ground that it was not of sufficient benefit to warrant the change.

Marriage Licenses.
Linneaus C. Davis, a farmer, of Hebron, O., and Miss Fannie K. Gray of Jacksonstown, O. Rev. J. R. Tibbles.

John Howard Lyons, a tool dresser of this city, and Miss Delpha Beatrice Hamby, of Hanover, O. Rev. A. B. Cox.

Divorce Petition.
Ida M. Bryson has filed a petition in probate court, against Clinton Bryson. The parties were married November 2, 1893, at Lancaster, O. Plaintiff alleges gross neglect and extreme cruelty and that defendant stays away from home for months at a time and that she has been compelled to support him for the past two years. She asks for a divorce and all relief.

Seeks Separation.
Benjamin E. Jones has filed a petition in probate court asking for a divorce from Lauretta Jones. They were married November 12, 1912, and are the parents of one child, aged two years. Gross neglect and cruelty are alleged.

King's Daughters under direction of Mrs. J. E. Megaw gave a delightful program last evening in the rooms of the Presbyterian church, which was well attended and highly commended for the merit of the various performances. James Whitcomb Riley's poems were featured in the costume program. Mrs. Megaw read a dozen or more of the familiar short poems as the persons illustrating the verses appeared upon the improvised stage. Several songs were illustrated by living pictures posed in a large frame, in most artistic style. The Daughters will hold their annual meeting next Monday evening when full reports from all committees will be heard. The members are asked to come with well filled baskets for the picnic supper.

Phil Delta Theta entertained at dinner last evening at the fraternity house on the hill, honoring the young ladies of Chi Psi Delta sorority. Covers were laid for: Misses Vashit Jones, Ruth Tipton, Mary McDonald, Ruth Wickenden, Ethel Collett Ethel Brillhart, Margaret Heinrich Luella Hawkins, Margaret Sedgwick, Evelyn Cathart. Miss Brillhart chaperoned.

Mrs. Ellis P. Legler of Dayton arrived last evening for a week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Ferguson. Mr. Ferguson is resting comfortably at his home in South Mulberry street.

Hiram L. Ferro, who has been on the sick list for over two weeks, is convalescing at his home in South Main street, and it is hoped that he soon may be out again.

Messrs. L. A. Austin and Burton Case motored to Columbus today on business.

The first performance of "The Man on the Box" by the Denison Masquers will be given tonight in the Granville Opera House, and it promises to be even better than "Officer 666," which scored a hit last year.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary Organization of the Baptist church will be held Friday (tomorrow) afternoon in the social rooms at 2:30. Mrs. T. F. Chambers will conduct the program on the topic: "Who is Who." The new officers will be installed and an enjoyable as well as profitable afternoon is promised.

Frank Bishop, of firm of Bishop & Coulter, is confined to his home on East Maple street, on account of illness.

Mrs. Anna Smett, Twining of Portland, Oregon, after a pleasant visit with relatives in Granville has gone to Dayton for a visit with the family of her brother, Bert Smett, after which she expects to return to her home in the northwest.

Myrtle lodge I. O. O. F. installed their officers at a special meeting on Tuesday evening. District Deputy C. W. Seward of Newark officiated.

Mrs. Littleton Price of Los Angeles, California, is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Kier in West Elm street.

The funeral of Mrs. Jane Cowles, who died of pneumonia in the Newark Hospital on Tuesday, will be held at her late residence in Sunrise street, Granville, Friday afternoon at 1:30. Rev. Mr. Carmen of Newark officiating. The deceased was born November 5, 1842, in Pennsylvania, and has lived in Granville several years. About two weeks ago she had a bad fall, and her injuries were so serious as to necessitate care in the hospital. Complications set in, and pneumonia followed. Interment will be made in Maple Grove.

Milady's Boudoir

For a woman who is troubled with a neck and throat that are not the aids to her beauty she wishes, I would advise the following exercises: Lie flat on your back on a couch or bed, with the head hanging far down over the side, then bring the head up and over until the chin touches the chest. Repeat until tired. This will develop the muscles along the front of the throat.

Next, lie face downward with the head still hanging far over and bring backward and forward as far as possible. Be sure to do it vigorously and to the full limit, until you can stretch the head up and back. Repeat until tired as before and you will develop the muscles along the back of the neck.

Again stand erect and twist the head first to one side and then to the other. Stretch as far in each direction as possible. Now take a reclining position and elevate the body so you will rest your head and heels. Rest your head on the floor to retain your balance. Then let the body sway from side to side, so that the greater part of its weight rests upon the side of your neck. This will fill out the hollows in the sides of your neck.

Sit before a desk or table with your hands resting firmly in front of you. Lay your forehead on your hands and press forward and downward with your head as vigorously as possible. Now turn slightly so that the right elbow is on the table. Rest the right side of the head on the palm of the right hand and press sideways and downward with the head. Do the same with the left side of the head and the left hand.

To reduce a double chin stretch the neck and chin as far forward as possible, then try to touch the chin with the chest. This must not be just toward toward the chest, but must be out, with a hard pull on the under side of the chin.

Our Boys and Girls

Every mother should learn to use a clinical thermometer and when the child is old enough it should be taught to hold it in its mouth. This is as important as to teach a child to take medicine or to open its throat for inspection. The knowledge of the height of a child's fever will often obviate the presence of a nurse or extra visits from the doctor. If a child seems ailing without definite symptoms, the mother, by using the thermometer, can judge for herself if a physician's presence is necessary. On the other hand a sudden rise of temperature must not be considered alarming, although attention must be given to it at once, for a child jumps into a high fever for a very slight cause sometimes. It is only if the fever continues that it becomes grave cause for alarm.

Beautiful Hair

is simply the result of giving it the proper care and attention.

Frequent and regular washing is necessary to keep it fresh and clean. It brings out the life, lustre and wave, and keeps it soft and luxuriant. Discriminating women, the women who care, have found by experience that the best thing to use is

KREAMOL SHAMPOO

NEVER USE a CHEAP, ORDINARY SOAP TO WASH YOUR HAIR. Such soap is likely to contain too much alkali and will dry the scalp and is liable to make the hair hard and brittle.

KREAMOL SHAMPOO is especially prepared for washing the hair and cleaning the scalp. A very small amount will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Moistens the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing the dandruff, dust and dirt. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and has the appearance of being much thicker and heavier than it is. You can get Kreamol at any drug store. A 50 cent bottle should last a family many weeks. Get a bottle of Kreamol today and try it. You will be more than pleased.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW CONGRATULATES THE WORLD'S MOST FAMOUS VAMPIRE

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew and Theda Bara.

Former Senator and Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew of New York, who are spending the winter at St. Augustine, Fla., were interested spectators during the filming there of several scenes in which the screen's most famous vampire, Miss Theda Bara, was the central figure. The Depews were given chairs directly behind the camera man so they could have an unobstructed view of Miss Bara's performance. When it was over they warmly congratulated the star.

"POOR BUTTERFLY"

The most appealing song number of the splendid Hippodrome spectacle, "Poor Butterfly," is included in the Columbia Graphophone company's latest record announcement. The inspiration of the composer was the lovely but luckless little Chinese girl, heroine of the Japanese "Iris" drama, "Madame Butterfly."

Miss Katherine Carl, whose soprano is as clear as the voice of a thrush, sings the song with a wonderful sweetness that is deepened by the fluttering melody, so eloquent of the flutterings of the little mortal Butterfly in the maze of sorrow.

Young people need clear complexions
If you find yourself "left out" because of a poor skin, and want a clear, fresh complexion, use Resinol Soap

at least once a day. Wash thoroughly with a warm, creamy lather of it, then rinse the face with plenty of cold water. It does not often take many days of such regular care with Resinol Soap to show an improvement, because the Resinol medication soothes and refreshes the skin, while the perfectly pure soap is cleansing it.

Resinol Soap and Ointment heal eczema and similar skin eruptions and usually stop itching instantly.

TYPES OF GERMAN SUBMARINES WHICH ARE TRYING TO ENFORCE "BARRED ZONE"

Ocean Going Coastal and Mine Laying Submersibles Available in Large Number For Campaign of Unrestricted Warfare on Merchant Shipping.

Mines Laid by Undersea Vessels Most Deadly Known—Slightest Disturbance of Waters Causes Detonation—They Sink Any Vessel Afloat.

HOW many submarines of all types has Germany available for carrying into effect her latest "barred zone" decree against the British Isles and France and in the Mediterranean? Officers of the American and British navies agree that by the wildest flight of imagination the number does not exceed 300, and these men are in a position to know much of which the public is kept in ignorance, says the New York Times. A conservative estimate they placed at anywhere from 150 to 200 vessels of all types, exclusive of mine laying submersibles.

On one point all were agreed, and that was that Germany undoubtedly has built and commissioned within the last few months a large number, perhaps as many as sixty, submarines of the new mine laying type. These vessels, which are distinguished from the now famous U boats as UC boats, according to the best available information can be laid down and finished within three months, have a radius of annual devotes several pages to German submersibles and places the number of mine layers of the submersible type at probably sixty vessels, with new ones continually on the ways.

The mines carried by these underwater vessels are of the most deadly type known and explode at the slightest contact with a ship. The exploding mechanism is said to be so delicate that once the mine is planted it is not even necessary for the unsuspecting merchantmen to come in contact, the force of the disturbance in the water caused by the propellers of the ship being sufficient to set off the mine. In nearly every instance destruction is said to be complete, whether the victim is above or yards away from the mine at the time of the explosion.

Taking Jane's estimate that there are probably sixty UC boats now ready and that one-half of these vessels are kept busy all the time—that is, while half are planting, the rest are on the way to Germany for a new supply of mines—this would mean a daily planting in the barred zones of at least 360 these ships is about 230 feet long, which is more than a New York city block, and manned by about forty officers and men.

The German submersibles of the U-20 and U-40 classes are also of the ocean going type, but have not the radius of the big ships, which are numbered in the sixties and higher. The U-60's displace about 1,000 tons on the surface, the U-20's and U-40's from 750 to 850 tons. Each carries eight torpedoes, and each has a battery corresponding to those in the larger vessels. A few of the newer boats are believed to mount four inch guns, although this has not been officially established. The radius of the U-20 and U-40 types varies from 2,000 to 3,000 miles at a surface speed of from ten to twelve knots.

The Coastal Submarine.

The German submersibles of the coastal type are vessels of varying tonnage, some of the smaller being of only 100 tons, while the largest of the other types displace about 450 tons. None of these ships carries more than six torpedoes, and the radius of action varies from 1,200 to about 2,000 miles under favorable conditions. This fact indicates that they are available for service in the present German undertaking, so far as the North sea zones are concerned.

Concerning the radius of the larger submersibles, Jane makes the significant statement that the distances can be greatly exceeded if necessity arises. According to Rear Admiral A. W. Grant, U. S. N., commanding United States submarines, the largest German ocean going submersibles engaged in commerce destruction can operate at a distance of 1,350 miles from Heligoland. The "out and home voyage" of 2,700 miles is done in nine days (mostly by night), and eleven days are occupied in destroying shipping unless torpedoes, bombs or ammunition are destroyed earlier. Twelve days elapse between cruises to rest the crews and overhaul the engines, etc.

In addition to the types referred to, Germany can, if necessary, put into action as commerce destroyers in the zone nearest the German mainland a considerable number of boats known as the "experimental U type," built between 1902 and 1909. These little boats carry three torpedoes of the eighteen inch type, and some have a radius of action as high as 1,300 knots.

Briefly, those are the types of submarines which Germany will use in her efforts to destroy all allied shipping wherever bound as well as neutral shipping bound for allied ports. What will the allies do to meet the problem? According to an official of one of the entente governments in this country, all possible precautions have been taken and the campaign to combat the German stroke mapped out.

INAUGURATION TO BE OF PATRIOTIC NATURE

Decision to Make the Ceremonies Simple, but Unusually Impressive.

Formal announcement has been made in Washington that in spite of the foreign situation the public inauguration ceremonies March 5 will be held as planned. After a visit to the White House Robert N. Harper, chairman of the local inaugural committee, issued this statement with the approval of the White House officials:

"I am pleased to announce that the inauguration ceremonies will be held. While the greatest possible simplicity will be observed, it is intended to make this inauguration unusually impressive in order to afford an opportunity for a perfectly spontaneous exhibition of the patriotic feeling of the country."

Only One Flag Now

No more he stands between two lands, While love blows hot and cold; No more he weighs with trembling hands The new faith and the old. The past's dead things Aside he flings; Hark to his new made vow: Only one flag! Only one flag! There's only one flag now!

Oh, blue-eyed Hans, your choice was plain When, with your soul your own, You left behind the castles twain To hail the eagle lone. Back flow the bars To show the stars, And still they light your brow. Only one flag! Only one flag! There's only one flag now!

Yes from the country of the Star! You from the Alpine crags! Only one country now you have— Only one love, one flag. You break the bands Of Motherlands! And this is our why and how: Only one flag! Only one flag! There's only one flag now! —John O'Keefe in New York World.

KEEPING ENEMIES FROM OUR COASTS

Five Hundred Mile Iron Arc Will Be Kept on Guard.

ALL PLANS READY FOR WAR

Protection For New York, as Country's Greatest Commercial Center, and Pennsylvania Coal and Oil Fields, Is Provided For—Work of the Fast Destroyers.

As relations between the United States and Germany have become more and more strained with the passage of every twenty-four hours, the expert battle tacticians of the navy, especially those of the naval war college at Washington, are concentrating their strategy upon the naval defenses of the Atlantic seaboard. This means primarily the defense of the two zones which have been deemed to be the most important—the region immediately about New York and that about the Delaware capes, says the New York World.

The necessity for the protection of New York is considered obvious, as the financial and commercial center of the country. The demand for the adequate defense of the Delaware capes lies in the fact that from that point a successful enemy would have access to the great coal and oil fields of Pennsylvania, with the taking of Philadelphia as a natural result. And from the capes the way would be more or less open to the nation's capital.

First Line of Defense 500 Miles Out. To meet a naval raid upon the eastern seacoast the experts have devised a plan, subject to a number of variations to cope with as many conditions, which calls for a naval battle line extending from Cape Cod to a point well below the Delaware capes.

This line, which would be the first with which an enemy would come into touch, extends in an arc with a radius of 500 miles—in other words, 500 miles off the eastern coast. It is to be composed of the fastest destroyers the navy can supply, those capable of a speed of at least thirty knots an hour. They are to be stationed twenty-five miles apart and are to be kept constantly cruising along their particular section of the arc.

Fast Cruisers in Second Line. Stretching from the center of this great arc, a line of destroyers would be in direct and constant communication with the base of the Atlantic fleet, which would be at Block Island or Newport, R. I. There, cruising about at reduced speed, but preserving the utmost mobility, the superdreadnaughts of the navy would be assembled. Two hundred miles beyond them would be the second line of defense, the fast cruisers, capable of making first response to the word brought back from the outer line that the enemy's fleet was on the horizon.

After the outer line had discovered the enemy and reported him, its destroyers would have served their initial purpose and would fall back upon the second line and eventually rejoin the main fleet of battleships. The battleships, accompanied by seagoing submarines—as distinguished from those of smaller size detailed as coast defenders—would then go to the attack. With them would go the fast destroyers which had done duty on the outer line, ready now to race to within at least 4,000 yards of the advance guard, discharge their torpedoes and dash back under the protection of the greater vessels, there to form for another attack at the command of the admiral of the fleet.

It is confidently expected that in a naval encounter with an enemy the engagement would be fought decisively at a distance of not less than 300 miles off the Atlantic coast, as one aim of the American ships would be to attack while the hostile fleet was still encumbered with its transports and auxiliaries.

FRENCH GUNNERS SINK A U BOAT

Merchantman Escapes, While Submarine Goes Down.

CREW WINS $5,000 PRIZE

Captain of Guyane Tells How Marines,
Manning Stern Gun Aboard His Ship,
Hit Submersible at Second Shot After Running Fight of Forty Minutes in the Bay of Biscay.

Seated in the fo'castle, the Breton crew of the French liner Guyane, which has just reached New York, told of the feat of their two comrades—the gunners—who modestly declined to tell how they sank a German submarine on Jan. 22 in the bay of Biscay.

"We only obeyed orders." This was how First Class Gunner Jean Bourdonnais, thirty-two, and Jacques Baudet, his assistant, dismissed the account of a running sea fight, lasting forty minutes, between a merchantman and a U boat, in which the submersible was sent to the bottom by a shell from the 75 millimeter gun mounted astern.

The Captain's Story.

But Captain Louis Rousselot told more. The captain gave a graphic description of how his vessel had encountered the submarine on the second day after leaving port.

"Yes, it was quite an adventure," he admitted. "And there is one less German 'sharp' to trouble seafarers. You want the whole story from the beginning? Well, you shall have it."

"We left Bordeaux on the morning of Jan. 21 under blue skies and a light south wind. The wind from the south brought a taste of the spring with it, despite that all the trees along the banks of the Gironde are still leafless. We passed down the river without incident and after ten hours were in the open sea."

Bound For Coaling Port.

"No, of course not, we had no lights," he exclaimed. "We headed for Fayal, in the Azores, to take on coal, as it was impossible to get sufficient coal in Bordeaux. Mon Dieu, the price of coal there is terrible! And even then it is impossible to obtain. Nothing happened until the following day. We saw a few vessels bound north, but none which appeared of a suspicious character."

"The following afternoon, which was Sunday, we were sailing along as peacefully as you please, never looking for trouble, when shortly after six bells (3 p. m.) a large vessel appeared about three miles distant off our starboard quarter. She was painted black, with a dull war gray superstructure, had one funnel and two masts. A few moments later a submarine darted out from behind her and headed directly for us."

"Crack! Crack!" And a big splash told where a shell had fallen about 100 meters short off our starboard quarter.

Decided to Give Battle.

"Since the German wanted a fight, I decided to give it to him. Why not? No use giving up my ship before I must. Just a little fight. It was such good weather it would be a shame to miss the opportunity."

"I ordered the crew to the boat stations, told the helmsman to head south, thus pointing the Guyane's stern toward Mr. German. As we were swinging round 'Pouff' and he had fired another shell, evidently thinking that we were going to make a run for it. It came much closer—only about seventy-five meters short."

"I went aft to direct the gunners. We let them have one shot, but we overshot. While we were reloading the submarine fired again, the shot passing over our heads with a whistling sound."

"When you're ready," I told the men, "take careful aim and show him we are Frenchmen." A la mort! Pouff! It was a wonderful shot—right between the shoulder blades. Our second shot caught Mr. German to be exact, just about the conning tower."

"The submarine stopped and fired no more. She turned in a half circle of white water. I knew we should have no more steel conversation from him. Did I stop to pick up the crew? What was the use? There was the other cargo boat near by, and, besides, I was some distance off by that time and headed for New York."

Crew Describes Sinking.

The captain's simple narrative was supplemented by the crew, who told at great length of the splendid aim of the gunners.

"How did we know that the German was hit?" they interrogated. "Why, how do you know when anything is hit? There was a resounding thwack, a big ceyser of water, the submarine stopped and sank. That's all there was to it."

"Have you decided what you are going to do with the 25,000 francs ($5,000) awarded by the Syndicat de Paris to the crew which sinks the first U boat?" the crew was asked.

"Each of us has got a plan in his head how he is going to 'bouffe' the next time he gets shore leave home, but we all have agreed that it's the best policy not to count our chickens until they're hatched. Wait until we get home safe, and then we can think about spending our fortune."

PANAMA CANAL DEFENSE PRESENTS BIG PROBLEM

Both Army and Navy Forces
Would Have a Busy Time In Event of War.

In case the country goes to war special energy and effort will be directed by the government to the protection of the Panama canal, says the New York Globe. Already some precautions have been taken for guarding that important waterway. Presumably it would not be in serious danger of seizure. The thing to fear would be plots to blow up locks, to raid the canal and the like.

About 7,000 troops are now in the canal zone under command of General Clarence Edwards. Army officers want to have the number doubled. Reports are current that more troops have recently been sent to the zone, but these reports are not verified. It is obvious that in wartime 7,000 men would not be adequate; that they would furnish only an attenuated guard and patrol.

President Wilson has issued an executive order giving the governor of the canal zone authority to expel any suspicious person or persons. This is precautionary against raiding operations or bomb plots.

Both land forces and naval forces will be busy in canal waters in the event of war. Naval vessels will have to guard both approaches.

The Poindestre amendment to the naval bill providing for construction on the Pacific coast of 100 submarines additional to the number provided for in the regular naval program has a bearing on canal protection. This amendment has strong support in the senate and may pass or be modified and passed.

Peculiar responsibility rests on the officers charged with defense of the canal. For years there has been free discussion in the newspapers and otherwise of the difficulties of its defense in case the United States should be come involved in war. Any failure to prevent its obstruction or worse would cause severe criticism to be visited on the officers connected in any way with the defensive plans.

PUMPING WATER INTO EARS OF AVIATORS

Candidates For Flying Service
Put Through Severe Tests Before License Is Granted.

The first test tried out on a candidate for a license to operate an airplane is the water test. Hot and cold water is pumped into his ears for many minutes to ascertain whether he is subject to dizziness, says the Kansas City Star. Then the pupil takes the second degree. He hops along a chalk line in the light and then in the dark, to find out if he has the proper sense of direction.

Last comes the flying test. The army airplanes which flew from Mineola, N. Y., to the Philadelphia navy yard were for the most part piloted by national guardsmen and civilians taking the final examinations for commissions in the flying corps of the officers' reserve corps, U. S. A.

The air men were dressed in leather from head to foot. They wore leather caps with ear flaps and bands across the nose. Coats and trousers were fur lined, and the latter were fastened at the ankles to keep out the cold. Each wore four suits of heavy winter underwear.

Johns Hopkins University Has Unusual
Case For Observation.

The medical staff of Johns Hopkins university, at Baltimore, is much interested in the case of a twelve-year-old girl who has already grown to be six feet tall and has every appearance of going on indefinitely. Her growth did not become abnormal until after her ninth birthday, but since then she began to grow so fast that her parents, becoming alarmed, put her under the observation of the Johns Hopkins staff, who have not so far been able to throw much light on her case.

The girl weighs 117 pounds, but is perfectly healthy and enjoys music, reads books and lives like any other girl.

BAPAUME ABOUT TO BE CAPTURED BY THE BRITISH

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Paris, March 1.—The Germans have already fallen back behind Bapaume and the fall of that town is imminent, according to information from the front which has reached military circles here. The new German line is said to run along the road from Bapaume to Peronne and some distance in the rear of the former town.

During their retreat the Germans have systematically destroyed their dugouts and provision depots and rendered their trenches useless. An Australian patrol in one place found a chain stretched across a ravine and discovered in time that it was connected with a mine at either end. The German artillery fire is said to have been notably feeble during the recent retreat but heavy guns are reported still in position at Bapaume, mounted on rails.

MAY DELAY BREAK WITH THE AUSTRIANS

FUNSTON'S ESCAPE

Narrowly Missed Being Shot by General Fitzhugh Lee.

LEE DIDN'T RECOGNIZE HIM.

Captor of Aguinaldo Had Long Hair, Unkempt Beard and Gaunt Appearance and Approached Lee Cautiously, Got Aboard Steamer Next Day Without Arousing Suspicion.

Washington.—There are many stories told here of Major General Fred Funston, whose death occurred recently. One of the stories has to do with General Fitzhugh Lee, now dead, who often told how near he came to shooting the intrepid captor of Aguinaldo, the Filipino chief.

Just before the Maine was blown up General Lee received many threats that he would be killed and was in daily fear of a plot to slay him. He was warned of a plot to slay him the American consul general at Havana got one of the worst scares in his life.

He was alone in his office when the door opened and one of the worst looking faces he had ever seen looked in at him. The man had long hair, unkempt beard and a gaunt appearance. His hat was full of holes, his shoes about all gone, and he had no clothing apparently but a linen duster. He approached General Lee cautiously, and the latter instinctively grasped his revolver. "If that fellow had once put his hand under his duster I am positive I would have shot him without waiting for a word," said General Lee.

"I was satisfied he had been hired to come and kill me. When he approached to a speaking distance he astonished me by asking in good English if I was General Lee. I told him I was and asked him who he was. He said he belonged to the Cuban army, was General Gomez's chief of artillery and wanted to go back to the United States."

"He said he was from Kansas and had enough of the Cubans. I told him he was taking his life in his hands by coming into the Spanish lines and if he was caught they would make quick work of him as a spy."

"He said he didn't care. I was satisfied he was telling the truth and sent him out for a bath and hair cut. When he came back in a new suit of clothes you wouldn't have recognized him as the same man. I got him aboard a steamer the next day without arousing any suspicion. He landed safely in the United States. That man was General Funston, who captured Aguinaldo."

Using the Scrub Palmetto.

Once a prolific and troublesome scrub product throughout Florida, the scrub palmetto is now being developed into an asset of great possibilities. Not only has it been discovered that paper of good quality can be made from it, but the manufacture of carpets, matting, twines, rope and burlap from the plant is already an industry of high standing in the state. Only the green leaf, or fan, is used. Chalk is made that the palmetto leaves when shredded and spun are very much tougher than the grass now used for matting. The green leaves are fed just as they are cut into the shredding and spinning machines, and in three minutes they come out in twine. This avoids the discolorations and losses occasioned in drying, storing and handling grasses commonly used for matting. Palmetto can be cut every day in the year and immediately made into twine. The skeins of twine when hung up dry rapidly and uniformly. The twine is used as soon afterward as necessary.—Argonaut.

Creed of the Busy Man.

I believe in the stuff I am handling out, in the firm I am working for and in my ability to get results. I believe that honest stuff can be passed out to honest men by honest methods. I believe in working, not weeping; in boosting, not knocking; and in the pleasure of my job. I believe a man gets what he goes after, that one deed done today is worth two deeds tomorrow, and that no man is down and out until he has lost faith in himself. I believe in today and the work I am doing, in tomorrow and the work I hope to do and in the sure reward which the future holds.

I believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, in friendship and in honest competition. I believe there is something doing, somewhere, for every man ready to do it. I believe I'm ready—right now!—Elbert Hubbard.

The Sadness of a Wedding.

There is something sad about a wedding. The young groom is leaving a home in which he always has had his way and is going into one in which he never will have his way. Although his parents do not go through the formality of giving him away at the altar, they know well enough that in a few minutes he will be a son-in-law to another woman, while to them he is nothing but a son. There he comes, with another man holding to his arm. It looks as if he might have made an attempt to escape and that the strong best man captured him and brought him back. He is as happy as he is nervous and so trustful that he has no fear for the future.—Claude Cahan in Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Life of a Battleship.

We are continually reading in the newspapers that various battleships have been completed, launched and for how long they have been commissioned. There are probably few people, however, who know how long a battleship lasts. The average life of a modern battleship is about fifteen years. In the old days a battleship was on active service nearly the whole time of its commission, which was about a hundred years.

The Victory was forty years old when she fought at Trafalgar, and the Royal William, which was built in 1670, was not "scrapped" until 1813.—London Mail.

Squabs.

A squab grows enormously the first twelve hours and still more rapidly after the third day. Squabs are at first sparsely covered with long filaments of down, the root of each filament indicating the point from which each future feather is to start. The down for a while still hangs on the tips of some of the feathers during their growth and is thought by some to be finally absorbed into the shaft of the growing feather.

The Wrong Word.

"Oh, come! Stop borrowing trouble." "Borrowing? Gee whiz, man, trouble isn't like money! When I borrow money I can forget about it right away."—Boston Transcript.

His Grouchy Opinion.

"The office should seek the man." "And the girls aren't hanging back either these days."—Kansas City Journal.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Cleaning the Teeth.
A clean tooth never decays.
The best way to clean the teeth is to place the bristles of the brush firmly against the teeth and with a rotary or scrubbing motion go up and down the surface of the upper and lower teeth both inside and out and up on the gums. Go also behind the teeth. After seeing that every bit of the surface of the teeth has been cleaned in this way, rinse the mouth thoroughly, forcing the water between the teeth several times to loosen any food particles. Do this more than once and always spit it out. To keep the teeth as clean as they should be kept in order to preserve them and prevent decay it is necessary to wash them after each meal so as to remove all food particles. They should also be washed the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night. It is well to have more than one brush on hand at a time, so that it will never be necessary to use a wet, limp brush.

The Old Age Sign Double Crossed

Don't let gray hair make you look years older than you are, for it is now an easy matter to tint and color hair of all shades and textures. From blond, auburn, and black to all the shades in between, the hair can be made to look as young as it ever was. The hair is not injured by the process and the color lasts for weeks. CHRIST'S PLEA TO THE SINNER IS EVER PRESENT

"Every blessing of life, every time we hear and invitation, every prayer that is offered, every song that is sung, every time one feels his life's course should be changed, is an indication that Christ is knocking at the heart's door pleading for entrance."

Said Rev. Mr. Layle last night in his sermon at West Side Church of Christ. His subject was "At the Door."

"Although Christ is continually knocking, yet he will not come in without an invitation," he said. "We must be as willing to sup with him as he is with us."

A large audience is expected tonight to hear the sermon on the subject, "What must I do to be saved."

BEAUTIFUL HAIR, THICK, WAVY, FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Draw a Moist Cloth Through Hair and Double Its Beauty At Once.

Save Your Hair! Dandruff Disappears and Hair Stops Coming Out.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after an application of Dandruff. Also try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggly, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, charming, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25-cent bottle of Knokilton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.—Advertisement.
